Our 31st Year of Boating and Social Fun
February 2016

This picture was from Bill Zinn's Facebook posting for those of you that haven't seen it. What a great outing and very informative of an inside view of what the Cuban missile crisis was like back in the sixties. I must have been in the dark just getting started in business in Homestead. If I would have know that nuclear weapons were that close to my home back then would I have stayed? Such young people there at those sites responsible for our lives and well-being back then too. Scott, our private tour guide was extremely informative. Thank you again Sandy and Bill for putting this outing together.

Sandy is opening up shop, along with Bill as volunteers each Tuesday at the Site in Everglades National Park.
